THE LAST PORTAGE.

I'm sleepin' low, night w'en I dream a dream.
An' a wonderful wan' it seem,
For I'm off on de road I w'en never see.

Too long an' hard for a man lak me,
So on I can only wait de call,
Is sooner or later come to all.

An' off in front of me I go,
Light as a dove of de fallen snow,
Who is dat lebby boy dancin' down?
Can see he's wile dress an' curly hair.

An' almost touch heem so near to me,
In us out de aunc'gong de tree.

An' den I'm hearin' a voice is say,
"Come sing, fader, don't mind de way."

Da be on de camp he's son for you,
So your lebby boy's going to guide you trou.

It's easy for me, for the road I know,
Cos I travel it many long year ago."

An' I foller it on, an' wance in a while.
He turn again wite de baby smile,
An' sing "Dear fader, I'm here, you see."

We're both together, jes' you an' me;
Very dark to you, but to me it's light;
De road we travel so far to night!"

This poem by the late Dr. Drummond, the penial Montreal poet of Habiant family, who died at Cobalt on Sunday, is not so well-known as many of his works, but it has a pathetic appropriateness now.

ONE MAN'S SECRET OF POWER.

With All White has been writing about President Roosevelt lately, and the Roosevelt he pictures is an inspiration to humanity.

A wonderful man, that Roosevelt, who is going to come out here next year on a visit to our Canadian west! He has addressed a Congress of Mothers in New York with a much effectiveness and common sense as he always delivered a speech to his own command of soldiers down in Cuba!

He intervenes and stops two powerful nations at war; he allies southern tradition, and has a cultured negro at his own table. He has done a variety of brave things, and now William Allen White in analytic and dramatic style, through Thomas H. Johnson, reveals the secret of Roosevelt's power.

He is not, however, the many another man who has fallen in the struggle against Mammon, but he has the moral vision. It is often more difficult to know the right than to do it. A broader education than any man has brought to the White House since Jefferson's day. A life unstained by vice of any kind, a clean mind and a joyful heart, a wide, confiding and just soul, combined with a strong, devout Roosevelt's faith in God and his belief in the common honesty of the common man unequalled. And when a man has these two convictions welded into his soul he plays no tricks, lays no ambushes, relies on no strategy, but, seeing his duty, goes to it joyously, bravely and with wide directions and ample power. Roosevelt is not bound by dogma, but his soul is secretly bold. He will not be found out; because that is nothing to find out. He is merely primitive. He has the gaiety and optimism that belong to youth, and youth is not a mere physical adolescence; it is that state of soul which must keep so long as they have not smudged their ideals and cast them with their consciences. One may be a hoy at eighty, or a man at fifteen.

But whatever his youth, has faith and gives wisdom with faith, strength and courage are but the other side of the shield. Perhaps that is the meaning of the prophecy; and a little child shall lead them."

W. C. T. U. MEETING.

A large and interesting meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held in the schoolroom of the First Baptist Church on Wednesday afternoon, the president occupying the chair.

Mrs. Bulyea, who has recently been elected to fill the position of Superintendent of Parliamentary Procedure, occupied a seat beside the president. The preliminary business of the meeting was quickly despatched, and the Parliamentary Drill conducted by Mrs. Bulyea, was begun.

Several of the ladies present took part in the drill and the motion before the meeting—which pertained to the question of the proposed adoption of a crisp, pointed and entertaining debate. The printed slips which so cleverly indicated the line of argument were supplied by the Superintendent.

After the parliamentary work communications were read in regard to the extension of the work, and as the Unionists were in the majority throughout the entire local organization the matter of extension of work was referred to the Executive Committee.

Among those present were Mrs. Bulley, Mrs. Harcourt, Mrs. Ferrier, Mrs. Manson, Mrs. A. M. Macdonald, Mrs. Bellamy, Mrs. Ferrier, Mrs. Ironside, Mrs. Nohlen, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Race, Mrs. Blayney, Mrs. Butchart, Mrs. H. R. Smith, Mrs. Walsh, Mrs. Chadwick, Mrs. Watt, Mrs. Hubbard, Mrs. Crafts, Mrs. Crafts, Mrs. Kemp and Miss Kemp.

GOVERNMENT WOULD PURCHASE BELL LINES

Hon. W. H. Cushing, Minister of Public Works Makes This Statement in Outlining Government's Telephone Policy at Canadian Club in His Own City.

At a record breaking attendance of the regular luncheon of the Canadian Club of Calgary Hon. W. H. Cushing, Minister of Public Works gave an exhaustive outline of the policy of the administration on the question of telephones in which he said the Government were prepared to take over the Bell lines at a fair valuation.

"I have not only been invited to address you on this occasion," said the Minister of Public Works, "but I am also here to speak on a subject that is creating considerable interest not only in this province but all over the Dominion of Canada. The theme, as you know, is the 'Telephone System of Alberta.' This, Mr. Chairman, is a topic that has been under discussion at the recent session of the legislature, and has been coming up on every question of the power of the government so that you are all no doubt more or less conversant with the government's action so far, and the policy which the administration propose to follow in regard to it in the future: so that what I have to say on this occasion may not be entirely new.

President Not Necessarily to be Followed.

"If I may be permitted to digress a little, I would like to say that when the government of Alberta accepted office, and commenced to administer the affairs of this great province, it was not deemed necessary that it should follow very closely along the old beaten paths that had been pursued by the other provinces of the Dominion. The system of telephone, the system of telegraph, and the decision was arrived at, first, to investigate fully and if found practicable, to inaugurate and put in operation at the earliest date a system of provincial telephones, owned and operated by the government.

Government Made No Mistake.

"I think you will agree with me when I say that it is not a light matter to deal with. As you know I have been charged with the administration of the public works department of the government, and this came under my control and management. I have to confess that it was with considerable fear and trembling that I undertook this task, but after a year of investigation and all the practical experience I have had, I am fully satisfied that the government made no mistake when it decided to undertake this important work.

"Now as to the subject 'The Telephone System of Alberta.' I understand that to meet the proposed government system. I may say that the programme has not been entirely worked out yet. The policy is, as I intimated in the House recently, to own and operate a complete trunk and long distance system for the province; to allow cities, towns and villages to operate their own systems if they desire to do so, but if they wished it, the government to put in the exchange and operate it for them; also to give rural districts the benefit of telephone service.

"Although there has been a telephone company in operation in this province for a number of years, up to the present there are only some scattered points where there is the provision of a service. The progress of this company through the province has been slow. The absence of competition made them careless of the country's interests, and they were not disposed to move in any direction until they were satisfied that the enterprise would pay.

Connect the Entire Province.

"The government will now consider every portion of this province. It will make connection with the existing towns of the Pass as well as the grain growing centres of the north and south. The residents of Cardston in a very short time will be able to converse with Edmonton, Athabasca Landing and Peace River. At present the telephone only gives Cardston connection with Lethbridge, a distance of 100 miles. In a short time the government will unit this whole province with cords of copper and it will bring the people of all parts of Alberta in closer touch with each other.

Cheep Phones.

"The people of the province will be charged in the telephone system and the dividends will not be more than will be in the shape of reduced rates. All we want the people to do is to pay the actual operating expenses and a small amount for depreciation of plant. With private companies, as you know, not only have actual expenses to be met but also dividends have to be paid to shareholders.

Phone for Farmers.

"I believe I can claim for government ownership that it will save a telephone service. The charge is often made by our labor friends that the workers suffer at the hands of corporations in order that big dividends may be declared. In many cases I presume this is true. We believe that the workers are to be paid in connection with this matter. I claim that it will be money well spent and that the people of the country will derive as much advantage from it as they will from any other expenditure that is being made.

"These are a few of the points which I suggest in connection with the telephone system. The government has now been built and, although it is not yet in operation, it is the intention to commence operation at four points immediately. A line from the Crow's Nest Pass to Calgary, one from Edmonton to Lloydminster, and one each out of Lacombe, Stettler, and Wetaskiwin, along the line through the east. A new line will shortly also be built from Calgary to Edmonton."

Mr. Cushing stated that the Bell Telephone company are aware that the government is willing to purchase their lines at a valuation, and up to the present that company has not done anything in the direction of that course, and he might say that if the company in question did not propose to deal with the government in that class of settlers to our country. Our neighbors to the south possess the rural telephones. In many states the farmers have organised telephone companies, and today it is a common thing to find nearly every farm in some state of the union possessed of a communication. Now, it is hardly necessary to remark that when these enterprising farmers learn that Alberta is installing a system of phones that will serve the rural sections, they will be more anxious to come here than ever. The telephone which has been such a convenience to them in the old home will be accessible to them in the new, and nothing that will be better suited for Alberta than this.

Make Farmers Contented.

"Rural telephones are going to make our farmers more contented with their rural life, and it will bring them into closer touch with the world and its doings. It will make them feel that they are just as able to possess the conveniences of life as the people in the cities, and more comfortable than to make this great class of people, who are the mainstay of the province, contented and happy, and I maintain that the telephones will do a lot towards that end."

"There are many ways in which it will be a benefit to the farmer, but I need not take time to enumerate them.

Money Well Spent.

"It is this, I think, is a large undertaking and will require a considerable expenditure of money, but at the present time all the revenues of the province are being expended in the interests of people, and in my opinion there is no line of work upon which money is being expended that will produce better results than in the interests of the people, than this one. It is estimated that the total revenues of the province for the construction of these lines, though, even if this were done, it seems to me it would be a wise expenditure of money.

"We are expending large amounts to improve tele transportation facilties, it is the intention of the Alberta government to go into competition with the Bell Telephone company.

He thought that the telephones of Alberta should be operated and be available to the provinces and the municipalities to whom the property belonged.

M.R. BORDEN AND LABOR ACT.

Mr. Borden in his opposition to the Labor Act shows that he either is not conversant with arbitration acts or else considers it part of his duty to fault and expose them. It is a part of the duty of the opposition to expose the acts when we act was going through the House and so give the country the benefit of his wisdom by having what he now considers necessary amendments made.

Mr. Borden's objection is that the Government does not take the initiative in the enforcement of the act and that the party of the disputing parties must take the matter up. In New Zealand where compulsory arbitration has worked successfully for some years, neither the Board of Conciliation nor the Court of Arbitration intervenes in any dispute of their own motion, but like other courts only when one of the parties or both appears before them. The conciliation of the dispute is not the function of the conciliator, but that of the parties to arbitrate, but that if one desires to arbitrate instead of fighting, the state says the other must not fight but arbitrate. As soon as either side with a grievance summons the other before the board or court it becomes a punishable offence for the workman to stop work or the employer to shut down. Of course the party aggrieved must take action though.

It is simply preposterous to think that the Government must become paternal as to become the prosecutor in every small grievance. The Dominion Parliament has given the law and it is a comparative easy matter for the aggrieved party to utilize the legal machinery of the provinces to carry it into effect. If the Department of Labour is to be allowed to be everybody's prosecutor it would have any number of cases and if it used any discriminating intelligence in deciding which were worthy of its attention all kinds of dissatisfaction would arise. At it is now the party to any dispute who is sufficiently interested can take action easily. Labor must be given the right to arbitrate so that no anxiety need be felt about their inability to protect themselves when they have the law to set upon. There may come a time when the costs of such an action may be paid by the Government, but for the present the legislation is advanced and efficient, and should contribute a great deal towards the amicable settlement of minor labor disputes. The Government is to be highly commended but it gives the power to the people interested to be used for the preservation of industrial peace in the country.

THE SLANDER OF PUBLIC MEN.

Canada is indeed fortunate after ten years of wonderful national expansion, of industrial and commercial change in almost every direction, that times which have placed upon the Government the duty of laying broad and sure foundations for the greater Canada that now looms upon the horizon, times in which politics have had to be adopted, not for today or tomorrow, but for the years which are to come, times when Canada has emerged from being a colony, and nothing more, to the status of a nation with national duties, responsibilities and opportunities—after ten years of offices in which the Opposition can find nothing in any policy of the Laurier Government worthy of being made the ground of their attack, and are forced to fall back for the detection of public opinion upon scandals which they dare not coin into accusations and the imputation of scandals which they have not the courage to formulate into charges.

During the past ten years the tariff of Canada has been twice revised, a second transcontinental railway has been projected and begun, forty million acres of land hitherto tied up in a series of reservations are being opened for settlement, the immigration policy has been inaugurated which is bringing in hundreds of thousands of industrious and intelligent citizens every year, the trade and commerce of the country has multiplied, conditions of commercial stagnation have given away to conditions of almost unprecedented prosperity. The members of a Government should be considered from the point of view of the House, and the personal conduct of those members good or bad the Premier has no other course than to accept as members of his Government such men as the constituents return to Parliament. While it is unquestionably desirable that the Government of Canada should be composed of men of irreproachable private character, the duty of selecting them that they may be acceptable to the electors. If only respectable men are returned to Parliament, there can be only respectable men in the Government. The time, the handling of new conditions are not suitable for new developments. The Opposition is unable to find or pretend to find public ground upon which to invite the people of Canada to discredit the Government and to place the control of national affairs in their hands.

In this extremity the parliamentary representatives of the Opposition aid and abetted by their newspaper friends have turned upon the personal side of the members of the administration, and of their supporters in the House in hope that what they could not expect to accomplish by the discussion of public policy they may accomplish by the destruction of private character. How insidious is this attack, is evidenced by the fact that, instead of collecting evidence in support of their charges, they destroy the character of a man whom they cannot defeat on grounds of legitimate public policy. The judgment of the East Elgin election case is fresh in the mind of the public in which the political opponents of a Liberal candidate were adjudged to have maliciously conspired with reporters and publishers for the purpose of raising the issue of the voter and accomplishing the defeat of that candidate.

Canadians are a clean-living and clean-thinking people. It follows necessarily that nothing can more utterly and completely destroy the reputation of a Canadian public man than to accuse him of violating the laws of decency in private life. For this reason surely should not be shown to the public any character which formulates a slander which who formulates a slander of a public man, without being prepared to state his charge manfully and on his own responsibility and to produce evidence to prove his accusations—Ottawa Free Press.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.
The general light of the Insurance Commission investigation makes Foster blithely.

Which would you rather do: Wheel the new baby down street or break in your new spring suit?

The big railroad magnates had better double track to avoid another collision with the President.

To thousands in this country the death of Dr. Drummond, the habitant poet, will be a personal loss.

What is the nature of the allegations which are contained in Mr. Fowler's infamous allusion to wine, women and graft? Graft is understood as the use of public office for private gain. This is a matter of public concern and one for the legitimate consideration of parliament, and if Mr. Fowler is possessed of such a knowledge he should make the guilty before the people of Canada of maintaining slaves when he knows certain members of the House have sacrificed their independence and public usefulness for the sake of private advantage. Accepting Mr. Fowler's statement, that he possesses such "data," the member for King's Bay is a risk to a country that should make the game rather "rare" sport.

The Dominion Coal Company of Nova Scotia is reported to have arranged with the C.P.R. to bring miners from England to operate the Nova Scotia mines. Mining difficulties seem to be acute over Canada.

A two-cent a mile rate has been made the legal charge on all lower peninsula railways in Michigan saving over $1000 a mile per annum. Will W. F. MacLean advocate annexation when he hears this.

Premier McBride is going to London to see the King about better terms for British Columbia. He will have a pleasant trip at the expense of the province but even McBride himself knows that the Imperial Government will only listen kindly to his story.

TURPENTINE BOILED OVER

And Bad Fire was Caused in Thompson's Drug Store—
Loss $8,000.

A fire which at first threatened to be a very serious one, but which was controlled by the hard work of the first brigade to the building, did not get out of control and the citizens were ready for operation about five weeks' time, and the citizens will then have an opportunity of seeing the machine in full operation.

ERECTING THE CLARK DREDGE.
The material for the Clark Gold dredging machine is being teamed from the railway station to the White mud flats, where it will be erected. The work is in charge of Mr. Clark and his foreman, Mr. Purdy, who arrived in the city recently.
It is expected to be in operation about five weeks' time, and the citizens will then have an opportunity of seeing the machine in full operation.

WILSON'S CONCRETE BLOCK

The new concrete block works, to be started at the southwest corner of block 24 by Ebin Wilson, will be ready for operation about the first of May. Mr. Wilson, who is now staying at the Strathcona hotel, goes south to-morrow and will return in a few days with Mrs. Wilson, who is now in Calgary. They will then take up their permanent residence in Strathcona. Mr. Wilson has been making a good living during the winter, and the citizens are treated by Dr. May.

In the meantime the woodwork had been completed, and an alarm was quickly run in. In four minutes, Chet Groat and his men were on the ground and immediately set to work to fight the flames. Four streams of water were soon playing from the street, but it was not till the roof had been cut through and the water let in from the top that the firemen's efforts were successful.

By a quarter to six the flames were under control, thanks to energetic and skilful work of the Strathcona brigade.

While the fight was progressing willing hands were removing the furniture from McCallum & Westbrook's store, and the men and furniture from the home of Mr. McIntyre in the rear of the fire. These were brought to safety by the firemen.

Both young men were treated at the hospital and are now making a rapid recovery.

Mr. Wilson states that if the gold can be obtained in paying quantities it will be treated before being used in the manufacture of the cement blocks.

part been paid and the papers signed but it is understood that the deal goes through as arranged despite the fire.

The building is valued at about $3,000, with insurance at $1,800.

BOARD TO REPORT.

A complaint has been made to the Council of the Board of Trade that a solicitor for an Edmonton transfer company on the trains from Calgary has been using his influence to prevent immigrating immigrants staying in Strathcona. The report received is to the effect that he states that there is no room in Strathcona for the immigrants cannot be provided for, and it is useless to stay off in the terminal city.

As a result of the report the committee will write the C. P. R. general passenger agent at Winnipeg, asking him to investigate the complaint, and take action accordingly.

THE LAND BILL TO BE HELD OVER

PRICE LIST WAS REVISED

This and Contentious Bills Will not be Passed This Session.

(From Our Own Correspondent in the Press Gallery.)

Ottawa, April 4.—The Minister of Justice introduced a bill today to amend the criminal code, to allow offences committed in Canada elsewhere than in a province or the Yukon, being tried elsewhere than where committed. The amendment arises from a crime having been committed in the Arctic ocean last winter among the whalers, and from the difficulty of trying the case where the offence was committed.

The Minister of Justice also introduced a bill relating to the statute law in Alberta and Saskatchewan.

After the Auditor.

Mr. Monk brought in a resolution demanding that Mr. Beddoe, auditor of the Department of Immigration, be made to appear before the bar of the House. Mr. Beddoe audited the books of the North Atlantic Trading Co. When called before the committee of agriculture he declined to give the names of the members of the company on the ground that he had promised the company to do so, though reporting that the company had carried out their obligations as to carrying on an immigration program. He also refused to withdraw the names was the only name of the law in European countries that parties carrying on such propaganda. The purpose of the audit was to ascertain whether or not the company had fulfilled their obligations, and having accomplished that purpose the auditor did not consider it his duty to make the members of the company liable to the anti-immigration laws of the countries in which they have operated.

Hon. Frank Oliver replied that the government was bound by its contract with the company to preserve secrecy and it was necessary to keep that pledge which had been given in good faith. Mr. Beddoe had merely done his duty in carrying out the government policy, and it would be most unfair to single out Mr. Beddoe for punishment merely because he had done that which he should have done. He read a statement from Mr. Beddoe recapitulating the facts set out in his report and reiterating his belief that no good could result from the making public of the names of the company's agents. The member of the country demanded that the solemn pledge given secretly to the company should be respected.

Mr. Foster prefaced and explained his remarks by saying that he believed the country would respond favorably to a condemnation of the North Atlantic contract, and then proceeded to say: "He had it in an assurance that the government had made the arrangement to secure no migrants from countries whose immigration was conducted by the company. He was significantly displeased also because Mr. Beddoe reported that the company had exceeded the obligations of the contract by sending a number of more immigrants than was required in securing immigrants. He admitted also that the government had offered to make the names of the members of the company known to Mr. Beddoe but that the Opposition leader had declined.

The debate dragged through the evening and the resolution was rejected by a vote of 11 to 10.

Fielding Loses Top Team.

A government caucus was held this evening before the meeting of the House. The leadership in the House will devolve upon Mr. Fielding and the ageing price counsellor, Sir Richard Cartwright, will be acting prime minister. This is a standing rule.

Law Act Will be Passed Over.

Mr. Fielding said that the contentious legislation would be passed and that the session would likely be brought to a close about the 20th of the month.

Among bills to be held over will be the Dominion Lands Act. Mr. Templeman's proprietary medicine bill will not be passed until it meets with much opposition. The bill is legal and is held absolutely. It will be held over until the next session and it is expected that by the end of the month at the very latest, propagation will be reached.

And all the Lumber Mills Adopted it—Further Evidence Before Combine Committee.

From Our Own Correspondent in the Press Gallery.

Ottawa, April 5.—The House spent the day on the estimates for the Marine and Fisheries Department.

Mr. Aymer Retired.

Under the provisions of the Military Pensions Act, Brigadier-General Lord Aymer has been retired from the militia on a pension of $4,300 per year.

He will be succeeded as Inspector-General by Col. E. H. Vidal, who will in turn be succeeded as Adjutant-General by Col. F. L. Lessard.

"Owing to Affidavit."

Mr. E. R. Taylor, of Calgary, was again on the stand before the Lumber Combine Committee this morning. He gave in a number of documents which he had received from the Lumber Manufacturers' Committee in 1899. In one of these letters the manager of the company said: "We enclosed revised price list, which all the mills have adopted, both Mountain and Coast." The letter went on to advise him to adhere strictly to the price list for any sales made, and to sell only to reliable customers. A similar note was placed with one customer. Col. Vidal has succeeded General McKeon. The latter wanted a substantial discount for his purchases, but this the lumber company refused, owing to the affidavit we have taken."

Juvenile Courts.

An unusually important government measure was introduced in the Senate yesterday by Hon. B. W. Scott, Secretary of State, to empower the minister of justice to establish a trial of juvenile offenders. The legislation is based on three principles: (1) that a child is a child even when it has broken the criminal laws and should be treated as a child not as an adult; (2) that the instrumentalities of probation of officers in the most strict and effective possible means of reforming children who have gone astray; (3) that adults should be held criminally liable where they are responsible for the delinquencies of their children.

The bill looks to the creation of separate courts for the trial of youthful offenders on the lines of the famous "Kiddie courts" established by Judge Leland in Los Angeles, California. It provides for the incarceration of juveniles in detention homes rather than in jails pending the hearing of any offenses with which they may be charged; also for the sentencing of children to industrial schools rather than to jails. The bill will not be carried beyond second reading this session, but will be fully discussed and then left over for consideration at next session.

Mr. Foster Will Talk.

Mr. Foster informed the House yesterday that he would pay his compliments to the Insurance Commission Wednesday next.

WOULD PUT UP $10,000 DEPOSIT

As Guarantee to Commerce Boring Operations in 8 Months.

The International Gas Co. is still looking to a non-exclusive natural gas franchise. The representatives of this company, Messrs. Springer and Eaton, are not discouraged by the action of the council in practically passing the exclusive franchise of the Northwest Gas and Oil company.

"I think our proposition is such that the council cannot reasonably turn it down," said Mr. Eaton to the Bulletin this morning.

"We are willing to put up a reasonable deposit, guaranteeing the commencement of boring operations within eight months after the franchise is granted to us," he added.

"Will you put up $10,000, as was suggested, or will you put up a lesser amount which would be acceptable to the city?"

"Ten thousand is a big amount," was the reply. "I think $10,000 would be more reasonable. But if $10,000 were insisted upon, we would go up."

The council will meet in committee of the whole again this evening to consider the remaining clauses in the agreement with the Northwest Gas and Oil Co. for an exclusive natural gas franchise.

MAY ESTABLISH BISCUIT FACTORY.

J. W. Miller, Winnipeg, is in the city looking over the ground with the intention of establishing a biscuit factory here. Mr. Miller's father is at present in the biscuit manufacturing business in the Pug.

C. N. R. IN OPERATION.

It is expected that the sand block and timber bridge will be opened tonight and regular direct communication re-established.
